Barge Destroyed by Fire.

The tug Curtin left here Saturday towing the barges Amrapha and John Mehally, bound light to Norfolk. On her way down the river the Curtin picked up the barge Edward and added her to the tow. Sunday night while off the Wolf Trap light in Chesapeake bay, a fire started aboard the Edward, and is reported to have been destroyed by the flames. Capt. David Schlar, the master of the barge, and the man had with him were painfully burned before the tug could get alongside to take them off. The overturning of the lamp was caused by the vessel rolling in a heavy sea, that parted the lines between the tug and the barge. The Edward was owned by Capt. Schlar, and was valued at $10,000. She was insured for $4,000 and had no cargo aboard when burned.

GIVEN ROYAL WELCOME

Loyal Legion of Women Receive "Corporal" Tanner.

HIS WIFE WITH HIM

COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF MADE AN ADDRESS.

Always Admired the Woman's Organization — Greetings From Commander Smith, U. S. W. V.

In a blaze of electricity and enthusiasm Commander-in-chief James Tanner of the Grand Army of the Republic received a royal welcome at the hands of the Loyal Legion of Women last night at their hall on 10th street. "Corporal Jim" and "Our Jim," as he was affectionately referred to by nearly all the speakers, was accompanied by Mrs. Tanner, whom was bestowed the title of "Mrs. Commander-in-chief" by the ladies of the legion. Both Corporal and Mrs. Tanner were given a genuine ovation from the time they entered the hall until they departed for their home at a late hour.

Corporal Tanner in his address paid high tribute to American womanhood. "The worst women can do," he said, "is better than the best men can do."

He said he always had the greatest admiration for the legion, and since he had become commander-in-chief he had not changed his platform as to the women. "When women get together and organize mankind is made the better for it," he added.

The corporal said the policy of the G. A. R. this year will be to extend its influence and helping hand to all organizations of women. He also remarked that the office of commander-in-chief is not "a bed of roses." That some people have the erroneous idea that the commander-in-chief is a "big game" man, who goes around in a White Horse before breakfast every morning and in a few minutes settle all the affairs of the nation with the President.

Since Mrs. Tanner, "some people are experiencing much difficulty with the query as to how they shall address me. I have been seriously asked if my parents christened me 'Corporal'."

He related an interview he had several years ago with Gen. Hooker. After he had been introduced to the hero of the "battle above the clouds" as "Corporal Tanner," the old general said:

"Corporal, it is really refreshing to meet you and greet you. The land is so sprinkled over with generals, colonels and majors since the war that there is a growing impression that all the sergents, corporals and privates were killed in battle; so, corporal, I am d—d glad to meet you."

Department Commander John Lewis Smith of the Spanish War Veterans of the District of Columbia followed Corporal Tanner. He said the soldiers of the war with Spain owe a deep debt of gratitude to the ladies of the Legion, who gave the boys such a kindly greeting upon their return from Cuba and took a motherly interest in their welfare.

Glad to Honor Veterans.

"The Spanish War Veterans are always glad of the opportunity to do honor to the brave veterans of the 90's," said Commander Smith, "and to emulate their example. In the future we intend to take up the patriotic work where they leave off. Before taking any official action I always look to see what the G. A. R. had done under similar circumstances and what precedent they had established."

He extended cordial greetings to the new commander-in-chief of the Grand Army on behalf of the younger soldiers who served in the war of 1898.

Mrs. Tanner received an ovation when she advanced to the front of the stage to address the audience. She said a wife's tribute to her soldier husband, and declared that his election to the highest position in the G. A. R. had not resulted in giving him the swelled head and the airs of a general, as some of the ladies of the legion, the same Corporal Jim Tanner that he always was.

The evening's entertainment was in charge of Mrs. Thomas Calver, and she received high commendation from the auditors, who filled the cozy hall to overflowing. She was ably assisted by her husband, who acted as emcee. The program was opened by the large audience joining in singing "America." Then followed a monologue, "The Society House Ladies," by Mrs. De Grasse; soprano solo, "Gypsy Maiden," by Mrs. Joseph Chinn, accompanied by Mrs. A. Graham; bass solo, by Mr. William A. Graham; piano solo, by Mr. William A. Graham; mezzo solo, by Mrs. Edwin Gee; contralto solo, "I Love You," by Mrs. D. C. Hollan; accompanied by Mrs. Heinlein; coon songs, by Mr. William A. Morsell, accompanied by Mr. Gee; mandolin selections, by Mr. George L. Thomas; reading by Mr. John G. Newman.

Reading by Dr. Calver.

A feature of the program was the reading by Dr. Thomas Calver of his original poem, "Our Jim," which was dedicated to the new commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., Corporal Tanner. The poem elicited hearty rounds of applause, and was afterward presented to Mr. Tanner, who said he would treasure it as one of his most prized possessions.

Addresses were also made by Mrs. Evelyn H. Belding of Iowa; Mr. Frank McKenna, Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey and others. Letters of regret were received from Col. A. P. Foster, commander of the Department of the Potomac; A. H. and M. Emmet Urell, late commander-in-chief of the Spanish War Veterans. Col. Tasker gave illness as the reason for his absence. At the conclusion of the program the ladies of the Loyal Legion served their numerous guests with refreshments.

THE CELEBRATED STAR SHIRT

THE PERFECT SHIRT FOR MEN.

If you have had more or less trouble with your shirts heretofore, it would serve you well to look into the merits of the Celebrated Star Shirt.

As the stamp of sterling on silver identifies its intrinsic value, so the Star label on a shirt bespeaks its superiority. From whichever point you view it, it is as near perfection as it is possible to attain. Men who are particular as to the absolute correctness of their shirts in the matters of style and fit will find much to favor in the Star.
